

Using cells in such cramped quarters with no way of escaping the imposition of other people's intimate conversations will lead to frequent and highly undesirable reactions in an already overly compressed situation. Untoward and in some cases, hazardous behavior by passengers are increasing. E-mail via laptops is a far better means for communicating urgent messages. PLEASE do not authorize verbal cell phone use on commercial passenger aircraft.